Rising from the rubble

Few places mix medieval with modern quite like Coventry Cathedral in the West Midlands, where the ruined cathedral, destroyed by enemy raids during the Second World War, sits alongside the magnificent new one – designed as a ‘casket of jewels’ by Sir Basil Spence. Its aptly named ‘Rising from the Rubble’ café has been voted the best in Coventry, and groups of any size are welcome to book a tour.

Plan your trip at coventrycathedral.org.uk – and turn to page 32 for more cathedrals to explore this summer.

A powerful sneeze, a gust of wind and a bat bite top the list of Cover-More’s 10 most bizarre claims made by UK travellers. Make sure you’re covered should the worst happen (mind the bats!) at covermore.co.uk

We’re loving...

...this shot of West Midland Safari Park’s latest arrivals. The Asiatic wild dog (or dhole) pups are endangered in the wild, and visitors to the park can now see the youngsters in their 11-strong pack, together with mum Berni. Plan your trip to see them at wmssp.co.uk

‘I’ll be back in a couple of years’

While most of us take a week’s holiday at a time, Philippe Kjellgren (pictured here in Myanmar) is going one better. He’s currently on an 800-day trip around the world. His mission? To personally vet each and every hotel he recommends on his travel app PK’s List.

Hailed by Forbes magazine as ‘to luxury hotels, what the Michelin Guide is to restaurants’, users of the app can access tried-and-tested listings of the world’s most unique hotels. Find out more at pks-list.com
